About this time discd a Gentile who had come up on a stbt and got into r co ~~xxxxs~~ was nearly dead with the small pox. This word was doon conveyed to the Redmen who disappeared like dew / before the searcg rais rays of the sun. The Cholera also cmcd its rk on the camp and /// burials

William Bryan Pace autobio

from SLC (1847) finally a co of 30-40 under Lieut James Pa [ce began preparing to brave the danger of crossing the plains during the winter months, provs bg scarce in the v, we were told we cd get supplies at Fort Bridger and at Laramie reasonable it ad it be a gr help to the people if we d ly our provs and replenish on the road. Having a common interest we unloaded our supplies, taking only what was supposed to be enough to to us to FB out late in Oct at head of Echo Canyon we enclrd our first snow storm arrv FB and ound that h had not anything to sell. Here we were as it was over 400 miles to FL and nothing to eat, a council was cd consitting of a comm of the whole camp much time was taken up in tryg to decide whetehr the party in SL wgi advised us o leave our u supplies and depend on getting more on the road acted from sinister mov motives, whether we er to go back t SL and fight it out during the winter with the others, or go ahead moment but what we cd get what we wanted at FL so it a was unan decided to go ehad and depend on game

This wzs made more easy by our exper of being on Beef alone when we first arrived in SC and that B er supposed to be plenty. Well we strd on what rove prlv proved to be a 900 mile jaunt in midwinter w/o anything to eat

By scrimping we managed to et over on SW where we kd a B and fared sumpt tously, at length we reached FL where we expected e relief but he when only 24 lbs of dried B meat could be had at any price it looked rather blue, we cdn go back, we cd n stay, nor cd we cross the prairie land

Another Council was called and decided to go ahead and depend on the B, so away we went.

Near Scots Bluffs we got a genuine snow storm, freezing 9 mules to death, and generally demoralizng the balance, besides to add to our tr the snow ch as about 8 inches on the level ad covered up the rass, and had covered up the grass, and driven the B to the hills, where i r jaded animals we cdn reach them but we went on, in the course of the day Wm Maxwell and others succeeded in wounding an old blind Bull that was t too decreped to go off with the rest, and after some time wqs spent, they k finally killed him tough must vbn left by Noah

We ad now left the timber line and was dep on what was termed B chips, for fuel, and that under 8 inches of snow, but e lived and dug out fuel, made fires and roasted the old Ante-deluvian Bull and moved on

After any days of starvg and roasted Bull meat, in frozen snow, we saw the timber on the head of GI here one of Rainey's donkeys decided concludded he d g n further. . drivē him into camp at GI and they d kill him and thus draw wolves from ch we d get our appler but the donkey changed his mind and decided to press on

At camp Elisha Averett and Abram Hunsucker tooi the poor d from me, put a cr rope around his neck and armed with their old flintlock musekts led him off to the nearest tree where he was shot, hung up and skinned for the benefit of wolves, but the fact was, it froze as a fast as the hide was taken off and no wolves er in sight to shoot. Now Dennett getting tired of waiting for wolves, took his knife and cut off a large piece from the Donkeys ribs and threw it on the fire; the stnc' stench was immense /but/ / in a few moments poor D was on the fire roasting and men cutting off slices and eating as cooked Here was a discovery. . after this we always had a amule for supper ???

LF further tr, the iver had frozen over, except a few feet in the center, and that was washed out till it was deep enough to fl_o float a steamboat, after e testing it we decided to ekeep down on this ide to the P Reserv and there pos get a boat. . found it deserted, and no boat, then we had to wait for the river to f freeze up . . . fell some cottonwoods into the channel, block the ice (a dam) but it was a week bf it was considered safe to cross on the mg apptd to cross a band of sev hundr PIs pounced down upon us, and showed war-like intentions but after cg into camp nd finding hules heads and lights lyg around loose, they seemed to change their minds, became fr, took some of the oys home with them, feasted them on fat dog meat, then bloaded wh'em with corn, tild turkey etc. From here to WQ we had no further tr except to wade thru snow and slush arr day or two before Christmas 1847
