that is attractive to the eye of a lover of nature's beauties but I've mistaken. It may be owing to the novelty of the thing, but it certainly does appear that (this) is more enchanting than any scenery of nature I've yet seen. At 1/2 a party of Po Is came up. It seems the Po & stolen some 40 of their horses & they resort to a battle - they at 1/2 crossed to build a raft. 5/27 Found the creek has fallen some 2 feet & the banks are so steep it is hard to catch the raft in the middle of the stream & by laying timber on east end of finally to the shore, to bridge the stream. This was all. In case of the strenuous efforts & untiring energy of the Key Co. in getting the bridge it was, I believe, named the Kimberly Bridge. Death of Mrs. Wood... a surf fact that among all the rivers to California & Oregon nothing has been said about the difficulty attending the crossing of their small streams. men die & talk of packing. from BB. Here we
